

The Ragged Sky Poetry Series

Susquehanna and The Confidence Man by Michael R. Brown

The Luxury of Obstacles by Elizabeth Danson

Loose Parlance by Daniel A. Harris

Little Knitted Sister by Ellen Foos

Dog Watch by Valerie Lawson

Moonmilk and Other Poems by Carlos Hernández Peña

Between Silence and Praise by Elizabeth Anne Socolow

Penguins in a Warming World by Anca Vlasopolos

Escape Velocity by Arlene Weiner

EATING

Her Wedding Dress

A Collection of Clothing Poems

Edited by Vasiliki Katsarou,
Ruth O'Toole,
and Ellen Foos

Ragged Sky Press
Princeton, New Jersey

RUTH O'TOOLE

My Bra

My bra, it keeps my breasts in equilibrium.
It stops them lolling,
makes them conform.

My bra, it makes my breasts be fair,
molded to hide flaws, absence,
age and arousal.

My bra, it makes my breasts concealed things, thus objects to adore.

Underneath, my heart,
a hideous, unbridled growth,
peers out, ticking.